

RISO UK to showcase production print solutions at The Print Show

RISO UK has announced it will be showcasing a number of its industry-leading production print inkjet solutions at this year's inaugural Print Show.

Headquartered in Tokyo, and with offices around the world, RISO has a market-leading reputation for developing high speed inkjet colour printers and duplicators for cost-effective on-demand printing.

Its stand at The Print Show, taking place at Birmingham NEC in October, will showcase the capabilities of a number of RISO solutions, such as the ComColor X1, which is the world's fastest A4 cut-sheet inkjet printer, along with the Wrapping Envelope and Perfect Binder accessories.

The in-line Perfect Binder and the Wrapping Envelope Finisher, which prints, folds, inserts and seals a completed mail piece, are ideal for the production print sector.

Additional accessories on display will be the high-capacity feeder and high-capacity stacker options that allow for continuous high-volume printing with minimal operator intervention.

Tatsuo Murakami, managing director of RISO in the UK, said: "The Print Show is billed as a forward-looking event that has the UK market at its heart and it makes perfect sense for RISO to be there.

"The UK print industry is a challenging one but offers many opportunities, as our success in the production print sector demonstrates. We're certainly looking forward to attending and showcasing our unique and game changing range of products."
